Language Arts

I graduated Cum Laude from Florida International University where I completed my degree in Elementary Education and was ESOL endorsed. During my time at F.I.U, I was awarded the National Honors Society Key for academic achievement. I currently assist in teaching an instructional lab class at Florida International University where I help future teachers write lesson plans and teach in a simulated classroom. In the summer of 2004, I worked with Dr. Fine and Dr. Gregg in running a six week reading summer camp. This is my fourth year at Somerset Academy. I have grown and experienced a family oriented environment. I completed my CRISS training in 2005 and currently use the strategies learned to enhance my teaching methods and stimulate a positive classroom environment.

My educational philosophy is simple. I believe that every child can learn. Since the classroom environment consist of many different learning styles and abilities it is imperative that each student receives instruction according to their learning style. I incorporate the different learning strategies in my classroom in order to create a stress free environment. An effective teacher can make learning fun for each child they come in contact with.
